LET IT GO...

It's sad, that some things fades over
 Whether is place, memory, friendship or relation
 They say everything happen for a purpose
 This might be the time you need to ponder on yourself
 So... take a deep breath & give a moment to you
 Now feel, how important you are to you
 Don't you think, you are enough in yourself?
 Then why crushing over something which is now totally worthless
 I understood it might be hard
 But something needs to be done from letting you tearing apart
 It happens, because life is not so easy
 But it doesn't mean that you can't be breezy
 Things fade away with time
 It doesn't bound you to be in quarantine
 I know there might be good memories too
 But how can you forget that was also because of you
 You are confident enough to lead your own way
 But sticking back to that same day old thing not gonna take you far away
 You remember your far old dreams and desires?
 Deep down still you know you can accomplish all because you have the potential that higher
 So! So.. Step ahead and let it go
 Because what was holding you back has faded a long ago.
